DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 19 and 20 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 to 2 of U.S. Patent No. 6902632; and claims 6 and 7 of U.S. Patent No. 6702904. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the patented claims disclose a process for producing cold-rolled analogous steel alloy sheet comprising the same steps of hot rolling, coiling, cold rolling, annealing and cooling at temperature and cooling rate ranges that overlap those recited by pending claims. Note that such overlap in ranges establishes a prima facie case of obviousness because it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select the pending claimed ranges from the broader disclosure of the patented process because the patented process has similar utility and properties.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over European patent 608430 for the reasons set forth in the previous office action dated 12-27-04.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 4-27-05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. It is the examiner's position that EP'430 discloses a process of producing cold rolled steel comprising the same steps as applicant with overlapping or encompassing temperature and cooling rate ranges. Although EP'430 process uses a steel alloy with a slightly lower N amount, such would not be a patentable difference since it would be well within the skill of the artisan to incorporate somewhat different but analogous material to an old process. Moreover, it has been held that the steps comprising the process claims are the essential features for consideration in determining patentability in a process claim, and not the particular material to which the process is applied or the particular product obtained.

4. Furthermore, it is the Examiner's position that 0.007 to 0.0250% N fails to define patentable novelty over EP'430 steel whose upper N limit is 0.006% since the difference is not of any patentable significance. Note that applicant's specification indicates 0.006% as permissible. Also even though applicant's specification indicates 0.007%N as preferred, there is nothing (e.g. comparative test data) to show that it is critical and productive of new and unexpected results. Applicant does provide comparative test data examples on page 149 but they are not a valid comparison since they are not representative of the prior art. Note the minimum requirement for comparative test data is with the closest prior art.

5. It was argued that high N content and N/Al at 0.3 or more is advantageous to secure strain age hardenability but it is the examiner's position that there is no comparative data to establish criticality for these limitations.
